Tower of Babel

There seems to be shame for Gen. Walker but none for us in the Bay of Pigs trial going on in Cuba. The State Department and the CIA will direct our attention elsewhere lest they reveal the truth and we hear their cries.

In the paper I saw a man in shadow confessing his crime of evading his income tax. I was reminded of another American, a governor, who set aside his tax money in the bank while he hid the Supreme Court review the constitutionality of this law. The court refused and took his money. Fools we are to tamper with their decision.

Again I read where $20 billion in foreign aid was to be dumped over South America. They took it from us to give to them to my new friends, but when the tro is empty, what then?

I read on about a new temple being built in Washington, D.C. for the citizens of the world to worship their six religions in peace. The building will contain a giant eye resembling a many-colored diamond, to beam at us day and night. This modern Tower of Babel I will not accept. It is no better than Russian atheism.
